About Budapest Budapest, the capital of Hungary is one of the most exciting cultural and touristic centres in the heart of the Middle-European region. You can enjoy the vibrant and exciting metropolis, which is also the City of Spas and become acquainted with traditional Hungarian cuisine along with live Gypsy music. In addition, the City's almost 200 museums and galleries, 40 theatres, Opera House and 7 concert halls offer a wide variety of programmes you can choose from.

Budapest, has a longstanding tradition as a centre of science and culture. The city was created by the unification of Buda and Óbuda on the hilly west bank of the Danube and Pest on the flat east bank in 1873. Today Budapest has 1.8 M inhabitants and on the Buda side the Castle District with the Royal Palace and the Matthias Church, as well as the Gellért Hill with the Citadel are among the holders of the prestigious World Heritage Award. Budapest is a perfect meeting point that will leave treasured and lasting memories.
